Tuesday, Jan. 14—6 P. M.
Quotations for stocks are steadily declining, while the daily transactions are increasing—Stonington fell off ?
per cent; Norwich and Worcester, ?; Mornis Canal, 3;
Canton Co. ;; Farmers' Loan, 4; Mohawk, Long Island,
Pennsylvania 5's and Ohio 6's closed at yesterday's prices.
Many stocks in the list are now lower than they have been for a long time, and the probability is quotations will go lower before they advance. After the adjournment of the Brokers' Boards to-lay, prices fell below those current at the boards. It is impossible for prices of stocks to advance in the face of the existing condition of the money market. When the rate of interest reaches in the street one per cent per month, speculations in stocks are very limited, and nothing can stand such obody and the street one per cent per month, speculations in stocks are very limited, and nothing can stand such obody as the some emergency, from which immediate and may extricate those involved. The banks cannot command over seven per cent, and at that rate they will not mand over seven per ceut, and at that rate they will not loan a dollar. This condition of the money market is not confined to this city; all the principal money markets are similarly situated. We must look for harder times before the difficulties growing out of the past are reme-

A Philadelphia paper states that there is a vile conspi-racy on foot to prevent, by corruption of the Legislature, the payment of the semi-annual interest on the State debt of Fennsylvania, due in February, and thus effect the depraciation of the stock. It fur her states that a celebrated firm in New York, noted for its wealth and celebrated firm in New York, noted for its wealth and financial operations, is short nearly a million in Pennsylvaniu stocks, and that one or two gentlemen have been sent to Harrisburg as borers, to prevent, if possible, or justpone the appropriation for the prompt payment of the interest. This whole story is ridiculous nonsense, from beginning to end. It is the opinion of those hearing Pennsylvania stock in this market, that exhausting the Treasury to pay the interest due in February, in full, in cash, will do more to depreciate the value of the stock than any thing else. Should the interest due in February be paid, part in cash and part in scrip, confidence in the ability of the State to meet the next payment would be be paid, part in cash and part in scrip, confidence in the ability of the State to meet the next payment would be sustained, and the market price of the stock advance.—
The largest operators in this market argue this way, and the argument is sound. Indeed, if the bears are conspiring to influence the Legislature not to pay the interest, they are anxious that the interest should be paid in full, and that every dollar should be taken from the Treasury to do so. Since the message of Governor Porter, the stock in this market has fallen full three per cent, and the tendency of prices is still downwards.

The Directors of the Tonawanda Railroad Company have declared a dividend of four per cent, payable on the 15th inst. We annex a statement showing the business of 1844, compared with that of 1843:

Fereign exchange rules very high. The current rates for storling bills are 10 a 101 per cent premium, and shipments of specie from this per are made by nearly every packet. So long as foreign exchange continues up, so long will specie go forward and the banks must be forced to keep themselves under existing restrictions, to prevent addrain. The evils we are now suffering from have grown out of the rapid increase in our importations, creating a ba-lance larger than we could liquidate with our exports of mershandise, and requiring an exportation of the precious metals, amounting to many millions of dollars. The annexed table will show the movement in specie for several years past, by which it will be seen that from an importation of $20,293,643 over and above the exports, the movement in one year changed to an exportation of $2,462,362 ment in one year changed to an exportation of $2,462,362 over and above the importation.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF SPECIE.

Excess of Exce

importation of specie in 1843 came from Great Britain.
This specie found its way into our banks, in all sections of the country, inducing them to extend their issues, and creating an impression in the public mind that we were in the midst of the greatest prosperity, which led to an extension of trude and commerce, beyond what we were actuinflated, and the manufacturing, sgricultural, commercial and mechanical branches became extended, on the atrength of this accumulation of specie. The sgricultural productions of the country were not only rapidly in creased, but speculation in some of them was carried to

In cotton, the excitement raged particularly strong, and the most extravagant prices were re-alized. This fever commenced in the fall of 1848 Ship-ments of this staple were made from this and every southments of this staple were made from this and every southern port as rapidly as vessels could be procured, notwithstanding the high freights then demanded, and the receipts in Liverpool were immense. Prices ranged the highest just about the time our importations for 1844 commenced, and the state of commercial affairs then looked so favorable, that ne one stopped to look ahead. Our great staple was commanding high prices abroad; the South felt rich, and every thing tended towards a point of prosperity never before reached. Our imports for January, February, March and April last, averaged about ten millions of collars each month, during which time ensculations in ry, March and April last, averaged about ten millions of dollars each month, during which time speculations in cotton in Liverpool, and in the principal markets in this country, were carried on very extensively. This fever was kept up long enough for the operators on the other side to get out of the business with well filled pockets, leaving the losses of the operations to fall upon parties here, which ruined all those deeply involved. The second week in May brought with it the explosion of the whole affair, but it same too late to prevent the appropriation of an additional quantity of land to the cultivation of cotton, greater than over before known. All through the planting greater than ever before known. All through the planting reason prices ruled very high, and the planters having im bibed|the speculative feeling, put every acre of land that could be brought under cultivation into cotton. From the middle of last May prices for cotton have been steadi-ly declining, until they now rule lower than ever before. In the face of this fact, our importations, until November, continued very large, while our exports were deprecia-ting in value every month. We annex a table giving the value of our imports and exports, for the fiscal years since presents a totally different statement than the returns for the calendar year 1644 would. From the best data we can command, the value of imports into the United can command, the value of imports into the United States for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1844, will not vary much from $130,000,000, and the exports $110 to $120,000,000 leaving a balance against us of from ten to fitteen saillions of dollars, which will require large exports of specie to liquidate, and which has already created a demand upon our banks for coin.

The immense value of our importations for the past year, has produced a large surplus revenue—the movements of which have created a great deal of speculation, and placed the banks situated in the larger cities in a very unfertunate position. We predicted this result a long time ago. Any use of the Government deposites in the sperations of the stock market, or in any other way is at all times attended with danger, but perticularly during a period of large importations, when the balance of trade is likely to be against u, and a demand for specie for shipment likely to spring up. It was one of the narrowest shipment likely to spring up It was one of the narrowest escapes possible, that the banks of this city, were not during their greatest expansion, drained of every dollar of specie they had, for shipment. They just saved themselves, but not without losing several millions of their specie. They are now rigidly adhering to the most cautious policy, which is doing a great deal of injury to those they led into expansions, leaving them to get out of their difficulties as they may. We amex a statement giving the condition of the banks throughout the United States at different periods.

The returns for 1844 were made up to the middle of Nevember, from the official reports from the banks of each State. From reports since received from State banks, the movement has not changed materially, with the exception of the banks of this city, which have within the exception of the banks of this city, which have, within the pastimonth or so, been compelled to contract so rapidly, that at this time, the discount line and specie on hand are from two to three millions less than in November last. The present condition of our local banks, the immense productions, and consequently the reduced price of our sisple, cotton—the overtrading and speculation of the past year, and the evils growing out of these things have been caused by the large importations of specie in 1843, which depreciated the value of the currency, and, by advancing prices, inducing the large importations of merchandise in 1844.—The result of the present state of things must soon be visible, the difficulties growing out of last year's business will, lead to a gradual revulsion, which cannot be so severe or of such length as the lest. It will be the production of a single year's over-trading, whereas the be so severe or of such length as the lest. It will be the production of a single year's over-trading, whereas the last was the result of several years of tremendous speculation, bank inflation, and foreign importations. At present it appears highly probable that the mercantile classes of this city will be the principal sufferers, the merch me of the interior generally paying up according to their convenience, more than according to their ability, leaving, in times of difficulty, the merchants of the city to rub along as they best can. The fears the banks have rub along as they best can. The fears the banks have of a drain of specie, will have a favorable effect on our commercial sffairs, and perhaps prevent, in a measure, so great a spread of bankruptcy, as would otherwise happen. Those requiring facilities may, for a time, be cramped for funds, but the mass must eventually be bene fitted by whatever restrictions the banks may choose to put upon the money market. A few individuals may be sacrificed, but the majority will be saved.

The following is a synopsis of the state of the banks or

It will be seen, by an examination, that all the items in It will be seen, by an examination, that his freeze and the foregoing table, with the exception of the specie and bills et other banks, have increased during the last year. This, however, was to be expected from the increase of business throughout the State; but the banks, so far as business throughout the State; but the banks, so far as the public are concerned, are believed to be perfectly secure. The Bank of Bangor, the Central Bank, the Eastern Bank, the Kenduskeag Bank, and the York Bank, have exceeded the legal limits in their circulation. The whole number of banks now in actual operation in the State is 35. The capital stock is $3,000,000 The greatest-number of banks at any time in operation in the State, was in 1838, being 55, with an aggregate capital of $5,459 750. The number of banks since that period has been reduced 20, and the diminution in the capital stock is $2,449 750. The Maine Bank, Bank of Portland, City Bank, Union Bank, and Neguemkeag Bank, which surrendered their charters some time since, may be considered to have closed their business so far as the public are concerned; their circulation, in the aggregate, being less concerned; their circulation, in the aggregate, being less than 8,000 dollars, and they having abundant means to

THE CAPITOL, WASHINGTON, MANDLEY, Jan. 18.

The Duel—Debate on Annexation—Democratic Disorganization—Whig Plan for Annexation—Great Joy among the Abolitionists—Time of Closing Debate—The New Cabinet—Dallas, Wilhims kins, and Senator Walker-Nominations before the Senate. JAMES G. BENNETT, Esq,- Mesers. Yancy and CLINGMAN left here this morn-inn at seven o'clock, to meet in mortal conflict at or near Rossville, about eight miles distant, in Mesers. Yancy and Clingman left here this mornina at seven o'clock, to meet in mortal conflict at or near Rossville, about eight miles distant, in Maryland, but no result is reported at the present writing, five o'clock. The meeting has probably been postponed, and I will write you by the evening mail.

The debate on the annexation of Texas was resumed in the House this morning. Mr. Tibbatts, a democratic member from Ohio, commenced the argument with an able speech in favor of the measure, occupying his hour. He was followed by Mr. Jacob Brinkerhoff, from the same State, who represents a large democratic district, but who "flew eff the handle," and repeated all the abolition arguments against annexation that have heretofore been presented through their representatives and organs. Giddings, of Ohio, appeared most specially pleased, as also the whole anti-annexation force in the House and lobbies. He denounced the present administration, abused Mr. Calhoun, denied the nationality of the question, avowed its sectionality, concluding with a refusal to sanction the measure ucless the territory was equally divided in its free and slave representation. Notwithstanding his avowal, he will be found voting against any plan that has yet been presented. His speech was calculated to excite much feeling among Southern whig members, and it is probable that its effects may be to induce several who listened to it to vote for annexation. He was followed by Mr. Chappell, of Georgia, who was elected as a supposed whig, but who was found on the democratic side of the house soon after taking his seat length, denying all his positions. The whigs have at length produced a collision in the democratic ranks on this question, and the result therefore will be doubtful. A motion was made by Cave Johnson to close the debate on Thursday of this week, which was laid on the table by a vote of 127 to 54, thus shewing that there are many members who are yet anxious to speak on the subject. The position assumed by Stetson of New York, and Brinker

Carolina, obtained the floor previous to adjournment, and will speak on the question to-morrow morong.

There is considerable stir among certain would-be-leaders of the new administration, relative to the formation of the new cabinet, but the most amusing ie, that emanating from the relatives of Vice President Dallas. Judge Wilkins, who is nis brother-in-law, desires, as a matter of course, to remain in his present position as Secretary of War, and A. Dallas Bache, a nephew of the Vice President, also wishes to retain possession of his office as Superintendent of the Coast Survey. In addition to this distribution of government patronage in one family, strong efforts are making to place Senator Walker, of Mississippi, another brother-in-law of the Vice President, in the cabinet of President Polk, as Secretary of State or the Treasury. The latter is the place desired, but he is represented by his friends as fully competent for the former, and if not successful in that, will fall back on the Treasury, as a matter of family right, I suppose.—This would place him in an admirable position to advance the interests of his friends and promote the popularity of Vice President Dallas, in order to rank in the succession. There is scarcely a doubt that Senator James Buchanan, of Pennsylvania, will be a prominent candidate for the Presidency in 1848; and it is hinted that Mr. Dallas and his family triends are determined to contest the succession in Pennsylvania, and, if unsuccessful, will throw their force into the scales of Silas Wright, of New York. The movements of certain men connected with certain political interests in New York, look very much like a formation of such an union at the present period to defeat Mr. Buchanan, and sustain the friends of Mr. Dallas in the men connected with certain political interests in New York, look very much like a formation of such an union at the present period to defeat Mr. Buchanan, and sustain the friends of Mr. Dallas in the coming administration. Mr. Buchanan is a strong man in the heart of Pennsylvania, and will be strongly sustained by ardent and determined friends. Mr. Dallas must either give into his support, or unite with the friends of Silas Wright. He must act look for further advancement, until both these gentlemen are removed from the political shelf. The nomination of Henry C Atwood for Surveyor of your port, is still in the hands of the Committee of the Senate, as also that of Mr. Suydam as navy agent. The first is bitterly opposed by the Cowier; and Col. Webb, who is here, gave a dinner party yesterday to several Senators, as is supposed to aid in his defeat, as well as to accomplish other measures.

Washington, D.C. Monday, Jan. 13, 10 P. M, The Result of the Duel-Great Excitement - Meet ing of the Parties-Arrest by the Police-Race, Chase and Final Termination-Appointment of Col. W. H. Polk as Charge to Naples. JAMES G. BENNETT, Esq. : The most intense excitement has existed here during the day among all parties, sects and conditions, and every mouth has given vent to the expressions, "What is the result of the duel?" "Have you heard any news?" "Any thing later?" &c. &c., and rumor has been as busy with her thousand tongues, torturing and misrepresenting every thing possible that could have transpired, as well as much that could not. But the duel is over, the parties have met, and honor has been satisfied in the result. The principals, Mr. Yancey, a democratic member of Congress, from Alabama, and Mr. Clingman, a whig member from North Carolina, left this city this morning at early dawn, to meet in mortal combat, the latter being the challenging party, and the offence being a personal insult offered by Mr. Yancy in replying to a speech delivered by his opponent, on the Texas question, during the past week. The challenge had been received, and the preliminaries arranged by the parties and their triends at Baltimore, and the time of meeting was fixed for this afternoon as 3 o'clock, near the White House in Beltsville, about twelve miles from this city, in the State of Maryland. Mr. Yancey was attended by Mr. Huger, of Alabama, as his second, and Mr. Clingman, by a Mr. Charles Jones, of this city. The former second is the son of the senator from South Carolina of that name; and the latter, the son of Gen. Walter Jones, the celebrated lawyer, and the same person who received the knuckle marks of Alexander Wells of New York, in a recent difficulty between two gentlemen at a celebrated hatel in this city. Mr. Yancey was accompanied by Judge Meek, of Alabama, Col. Burt, of South Carolina, and Col. Groyun, of Mississippi. Mr. Clingman by Mr. Rayner, a member from North Carolina, Mr. Causin, a member from Morth Carolina, and Col. Groyun, of Chingman we did not learn. Mr. Yancey as surgeon. The name of the surgical attendant of Mr. Clingman we did not learn. Mr. Yancey, accompanied by his friends, after a circuitous route, arrived at the hotel in Beltsville, about noon, and the principal and second retired to a private room, awaiting the time for the meeting. Mr. Clingman and his friend were stationed about a mile distant, but were to pass the hotel in carriages before proceeding to the ground. Soon after the arrival of the friends of Mr. Yancey at the hotel, a number of persons were attracted thicher by curiosity, suspecting the gentlemen present to form one of the bellingerent parties. Judge Meek, who stands over six teet high, and who by the by was the recent hearer of th dawn, to meet in mortal combat, the latter being the challenging party, and the offence being a per-
